HOW IT WORKS

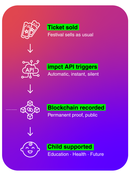
One integration. A lifetime of impact.

01 Integrate once
Connect your ticketing system to our API. One-time setup. No new infrastructure, no new team, no extra work — ever.

02 Impact flows automatically
Every ticket triggers our engine. A contribution is calculated and routed to the impct Foundation — a separate, dedicated entity — then transferred to verified partner foundations. Every step recorded, every step verifiable.

03 Permanent, blockchain-verified
Every contribution recorded on-chain. Public. Permanent. Your audience, your partners, the world — anyone can verify every transaction.

04 Support that never stops
As long as festivals run, children are supported. Education, healthcare, psychology — a real life. Not a campaign. A commitment.



THE MISSION

Not a donation. A commitment.

Every orphaned child deserves the same opportunities as any other. Education. Healthcare. Psychological support. A real life. impct makes this possible — automatically, continuously, as long as the music plays.

Education
Access to quality schooling, materials, and learning for every child.

Healthcare
Medical and psychological care — everything needed to grow healthy and safe.

Long-term support
Not a one-time donation.
Continuous support — as long as the child needs it.

"As long as the music plays, a child is supported."

impct partners with established humanitarian foundations that already run long-distance adoption programmes worldwide. Every contribution is verified on the blockchain — so you can see where it goes, who benefits, and for how long.

Festivals can direct their impct toward our network of vetted child-focused foundations — or nominate a cause they already believe in.

BUILT FOR SCALE

Everything you need. Nothing you don't.

API-first
One endpoint. Works with any ticketing system. Designed for fast, simple integration.

Blockchain verified
Every contribution permanent and public. Your audience can verify every transaction themselves.

Live dashboard
Embeddable on your website. Real-time children supported counter, updated with every ticket sold.

Security-first
Financial-grade security from day one. HMAC-signed webhooks, zero PII stored.

Impact receipts
After every event, buyers receive personal proof of the change their ticket created. Evidence, not marketing.

Global reach
Verified partnerships with foundations operating worldwide. Every festival, everywhere — connected to the same mission.

THE OPPORTUNITY

The market is ready. The infrastructure wasn't.

Billions of tickets sold every year. None of them automatically, permanently supporting a child. Until now.

Your festival. A child's future.

20 minutes. No pitch deck. No pressure. A conversation about whether impct makes sense for your event — and the children it could support.

BOOK A CALL

Why impct exists

I'm Mia, founder of impct.

For years, I designed spaces where people come together. But it was inside festivals that I witnessed something extraordinary: thousands of strangers becoming a community.

People from different countries, cultures, and backgrounds connected by music, joy, and a shared experience. It made me realize the power of people coming together around something they love.

I started asking a simple question:

What if that same community could create opportunities for young people who need them most — without changing a single thing about the festival experience?

I couldn't find the infrastructure to make it possible.

So together with Toni, our CTO, we decided to build it.

At impct, we believe that small actions, multiplied by millions of people, can create meaningful change. Our mission is to transform moments of connection into lasting impact and create opportunities for the next generation.
